

Curriculum Specialist (Director level)

Wisewire is looking for a Director level Curriculum Specialist that brings a background of education technology leadership, Instructional Design and career and technology education (CTE) experience. The learning leader will work directly with Wisewire clients and will lead the design, development and implementation of creative and forward thinking learning solutions with our CTE clients, in K-12 and Higher Ed. They will ensure programs are built based on learning science, design best practices, targeted content curation and innovative academic technologies. The Curriculum Specialist will provide guidance and strategic oversight to the team that is involved in the creation of the CTE learning products.

This is a remote freelance position and can be part time or full time for the right candidate.