Our COPPA Privacy Policy explains: (a) how we collect, use, and share personal information from users under the age of 13 ("Child"); (b) how, as a parent or school educator, you may limit the collection, use, and sharing of your child's or student's personal information; and (c) the role of your child's teacher in this process.

We do not ask for more information than necessary from a Child to use the Service. Therefore, when a school educator assigns an assessment, a Child is required to create a student account by providing the following: (a) name; (b) email address; and (c) password. This information and a student's unique online identifiers, such as IP address, are the only personal information collected from a Child.

We use a Child's personal information solely for educational purposes and in connection with providing those services, such as to: (a) respond to a child's comments and questions; (b) provide customer service; (c) provide the assessments and related reports to the school educator; and (d) send your child Service use and technical related information.

Because we rely on a school educator's consent to collect the personal information above from the Child, we require that the school educator (on behalf of the student's parent): (a) consent to the collection, use, and disclosure of the Child's personal information; and (b) agree that the Child's use of the Service is subject to this Agreement.

Note to educators: by using the "Assign Assessment" feature of the Service, you represent and warrant that you have obtained parental consent for each of the students you have assigned an assessment.

Note to parents and school educators: We do not share a Child's personal information.

Parents or school administrators can refuse to permit Us to collect further personal information a Child, and can request that We delete from our records the personal information that we collected, but doing so may result in the termination of an account, as the personal information is necessary to create and maintain an account.
