

Quiz: L.5.2.C

1. Read the following sentences:

Jane asked, "It's a fact that pandas are an endangered species isn't it? What do you think Marsha?"

Which of the following corrects the punctuation in the above sentences?

- A. Jane asked, "It's a fact, that pandas are an endangered species isn't it? What do you think, Marsha?"
 - B. Jane asked, "It's a fact, that pandas are an endangered species, isn't it? What do you think Marsha?"
 - C. Jane asked, "It's a fact that pandas are an endangered species, isn't it? What do you think, Marsha?"
 - D. Jane asked, "It's a fact that pandas are an endangered species, isn't it? What do you think Marsha?"
2. Which of the following sentences does not have the correct punctuation?
- A. Yes, please! I would love a large piece of that apple pie.
 - B. Didn't I get the answer right the first time?
 - C. Helen, aren't there 8 pints in a gallon?
 - D. It has been hotter than usual this summer hasn't it?

3. Read the following sentence.

Please stop making so much noise Maria and Isabel.

In which of the following ways should this sentence be changed so that it has correct punctuation?

- A. Please stop making so much noise; Maria and Isabel.
- B. Please stop making so much noise! Maria and Isabel.
- C. Please stop making so much noise. Maria and Isabel.
- D. Please stop making so much noise, Maria and Isabel.

