

Quiz: L.6.2.A

1. Read the sentence below.

That bus the one I was telling you about before needs to be repaired.

Which revision corrects the punctuation error in the sentence?

- A. That bus, the one I was telling you about before needs to be repaired.
 - B. That bus the one I was telling you about before, needs to be repaired.
 - C. That bus, the one I was telling you about before – needs to be repaired.
 - D. That bus, the one I was telling you about before, needs to be repaired.
2. Read the sentence below.

After the game, the longest one of the season, we went out to celebrate.

Which punctuation marks could replace the commas without changing the meaning of the sentence?

- A. parentheses
 - B. semicolons
 - C. colons
 - D. periods
3. Read the following sentence:

My piano teacher, who lives down the street has played at concerts all around the world.

Which revision shows the sentence with correct punctuation?

- A. My piano teacher who lives down the street, has played at concerts all around the world.
 - B. My piano teacher who lives down the street; has played at concerts all around the world.
 - C. My piano teacher; who lives down the street; has played at concerts all around the world.
 - D. My piano teacher, who lives down the street, has played at concerts all around the world.
4. Read the following sentence:

“My brother, Steven, is coming by for dinner,” Robert said.

What is true about Robert based on the commas in this sentence?

- A. Robert has only one sibling.
- B. Robert has only one brother.
- C. Robert has more than one sibling.
- D. Robert has more than one brother.

