

Quiz: L.7.1.C

1. Read the following sentence and check for errors:

Having considered the new leash laws, my dog will stay inside until he gets a new leash on his birthday.

Which of the following sentences corrects the error in usage?

- A. My dog will stay inside until he gets a new leash on his birthday, having considered the new leash law.
 - B. My having considered the new leash laws, the dog will stay inside on his birthday until he gets a new leash.
 - C. My having considered the new leash laws, I will keep my dog inside on his birthday until he gets a new leash.
 - D. Having considered the new leash laws, I will keep my dog inside until he gets a new leash on his birthday.
2. Read the following sentence:

After waiting five days, the leftover chicken was rotten.

Which of the following is the best way to correct the dangling modifier in this sentence?

- A. After waiting five days, the leftover chicken was rotten for us.
 - B. After waiting five days, the leftover chicken was rotten, I noticed.
 - C. After waiting five days, I noticed that the leftover chicken was rotten.
 - D. After waiting five days, it was noticed that the leftover chicken was rotten.
3. Read the following sentence:

Near the end of class, our teacher said on Monday she would return our essays.

Which of the following would help to correct the misplaced modifier in this sentence?

- A. Move "on Monday" to the end of the sentence or to right after "class."
- B. Delete "on Monday."
- C. Delete "Near the end of class."
- D. Move "Near the end of class" to after "on Monday."

